

11009 Sales – Floral Experience preferred willing to train

Reply to: Mayeshhr@mayesh.com
Position Location: Los Angeles, CA

Position Summary:

As an established floral wholesaler, we are seeking a candidate who is willing to learn the traits of the floral industry. This can either be a floral experience person and or a person who is able to learn and pick up new ideas quickly. Should not be afraid in making cold calls and or deal with the general public. This is a unique sales opportunity as we are willing to train the right candidate. As part of our sales team, you will have the opportunity to grow and learn all about this fantastic business.

Requirement:

- Must have a great attitude, enthusiastic, pleasant and customer service oriented.
- Strong communication skills-Oral and written
- Good Telephone etiquette – detail
- Type A personality, energetic and enthusiastic a plus
- Open to learning new products and procedures
- Will support and may assist current sales staff until they have learned the day to day needs within the floral industry.
- PC proficiency a must
- Data Entry experience a must attention to detail

Should also have:

- Ability to effectively present information and respond to questions from customers and management
- Ability to solve practical problems and communicate effectively with the proper teams as needed
- Must be flexible as our systems and culture requires it

We offer a competitive benefits package

Salary plus commission

Health, Dental and Long Term Disability plus Life Insurance

401K plan

Vacation and personal/sick days off

EOE

Email your resume for consideration to this great opportunity

- Principals only Recruiters do not contact this posting
- It is not ok to contact the poster on other services or products